Father Darkleaf

BY CALVIN ROBINSON

We'll take a recess from leaf raking to see what is on the note pad. ACHS and Amherst in an all-important football game. Counting the tally after election day. A serene Hallowe'en. A tapering off of lawnmowing. And a rousing salute to the Appomattox team on the TV program Klassroom Kwiz. And Darkleaf Tobacco Markets open the 27th. Could write at some length on each of the above items. For example Brightleaf and I had sixty-three visitors Hallowe'en night, including a King Kong, Scarlet O'Hara, gypsies, elfs, spooks, colleens, ghosts. All went well. Note pad comment...it is a commendation to our county officials that we had no contests for reelection of incumbent officeholders. Also on the note pad...Sunday was the 100th anniversary of the birth of the fabulous comedian, writer and entertainer, Will Rogers. A special postage stamp in his honor is ready for distribution. And Nov. 19 will be the anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address (1863).

Frosty weather has brought birds to the birdfeeder at our picture window. May have to go ahead and activate the cafeteria line with wildbird seed. And I have prepared my annual chart for recording weather report and temperature on my porch as of 7 A.M. This far, slightly cooler than a year ago but not much difference.

With Thanksgiving approaching, it was coincidence that a feature copy I had written back in 1964 and do not recall having published, Virginia is rich in the history and lore of Thanksgiving. Heralded as "Turkey Day" it featured a football match in Roanoke between VPI and VMI, and many a family gathering in homes over the Commonwealth. Here follows the copy I wrote....

"A goodly crowd of turkey hens were massed on the hillside. Many were openly weeping. A few had sought deliberately to make themselves appear unsightly, skinny and ruffled. Several hens coughed and sneezed so as to appear ill. One dowager let it be known that she was with egg. Henrietta X had bathed in a mud puddle.

"But, in solemn grandeur a turkey Gobbler mounted a rock pulpit...a huge Gobbler, a professor of Struttery, the Lord of Rockingham, His Uppance no less. And he speaks

"Ladies. I invite you to this meditation with no axe to grind, for our fellow Creatures, the Humans, have attended to that. Nor did I call for your presence so that we might relive happy moments we have spent together on the barnyard, the nights we have huddled on the roost, or the pride I have oft expressed in your performance on the nest.

"Rather, I wanted to use this occasion to remind you that for you, too, Thanksgiving can be your finest hour. Old gobblers just fade away, but choice turkey hens mount a throne. Instead of fading red roses, you will have a bier decked with the sauce of the cranberry. After the Blessing, you will get the Dressing. Your youthful flesh will tingle with Sage.

"So be not dismayed. Be proud White meat, dark meat, even the wing. And now, ladies, as the Bells Toll, in Virginia, in New England, in lands beyond the sea, be it known and proclaimed that the Fourth Thursday in November is TURKEY DAY.

"So farewell, heads up now. And I will join you in that Barnyard in the Sky, no taxes, no axes, just eternal picking and pecking. Just remind St. Peter that on earth you were so good they named a special day just for you. TURKEY DAY."

Thanks for reading and seeya next week.

Appomattox County To Get New Jail

Appomattox County will get a new jail facility. For the past several years, the Appomattox County Board of Supervisors have been considering the construction of a new county jail but financing was the issue that delayed a decision.

The 84 year old jail was closed in September of this year as a fire hazard.

On Thursday of last week a decision was made as board members voted for the construction of the new facility. It will be a "no frills" building and will be located behind the Court House building.

Facing the fact that delaying the construction would only mean higher cost whenever a decision was made to build, the board voted unanimously to have its architect prepare bid specifications.

Board Chairman, Dr. S. R. Lawson, in discussing the decision, said, "if it meant raising taxes to build a jail, I'd vote NO right now. But if it comes down to a circuit court judge or state telling us in two, three or four years from now....we'd be out."

"I believe it is within easy reach," Lawson added, "and if we put it off, it's just going to cost more."

The other two supervisors, Otho Martin, Jr. and J. M. Cobb, Jr., who are not seeking reelection this year, agreed after examining revised construction cost estimates that reduced the projected expense by almost $100,000.00.

Martin said the county should not be dependent on anyone for anything, referring to Charlotte County's housing of Appomattox prisoners since the September 12 decision to close the local jail by the State Board of Corrections on the recommendation of the State Fire Marshall.

Lynchburg architect, Garland Gay, whose firm had been working with Sheriff Gene Richardson and State Corrections Board Officials to devise a cheaper facility that would meet state standards, presented the revised cost estimates on Thursday for the proposed 5,400 square foot facility.

County Director of Special Projects, William R. Britton, Jr., told the board he is pursuing public Farmers Home Administration money for the project, while Clerk of the Circuit Court of Appomattox County, Barbara Williams, said local banks had quoted a seven percent interest rate on a possible loan.

Gay said his firm would have the bid information prepared within 90 days.

Winners Announced

Winners in the weekly football contest sponsored by area businesses have been announced by the Times-Virginian for last week's contest.

With a possible 23 games in the contest, V.M.I. and Connecticut played to a 15-15 tie so that game was not counted at all, this left a possible 22 games to predict correctly.

Out of the possible 22 games to predict, four persons picked 18 of the 22 games correctly and all four persons got the two tie-breakers right. With 18 games predicted correctly were Robert G. Harris, Dan Coleman, Jim Harding and Valerie Guill.

Jim Harding of Cullen is the first place winner as he gave Amherst a 20 point advantage over Liberty, the exact number of points that Amherst won by. Second place in the contest goes to Valerie Guill who predicted a 21 point win for Amherst over Liberty.

Jim Harding of Cullen will receive a check in the amount of $10.00 as first place prize and Valerie Guill will receive a check in the amount of $5.00 from the Times-Virginian as second place prize.

Be sure you enter the contest next week, the last contest for this season as the Seminole District winds up their play, get your entries in to the Times-Virginian early ... you just may be our next winner.

Good Schools Need Interested Citizens to Foster Educational Values

A Proclamation

WHEREAS, The schools represent the best efforts of the community, the state, and the nation to improve the quality of life; and

WHEREAS, Defining the schools' goals and evaluating their results are the responsibilities of an informed and involved citizenry; and

WHEREAS, There is a widespread need for better communication and more cooperative relationships between professional educators and the community,

Now, Therefore, I Samuel R. Lawson, Chairman, Board of Supervisors of Appomattox County, do hereby designate November 11-November 17, 1979, to be American Education Week and to urge all citizens to —

☐ Reaffirm their commitment to improving education on all levels, and ☐ Translate that commitment into action by visiting local schools.

Parents and other concerned citizens–in their constant quest for excellence in their local schools and education generally–should support teachers by outside activities that heighten classroom interest and involvement, say sponsors of American Education Week.

"If we do not concern ourselves with the schools, we are forfeiting some of the responsibility we share for the future of our community, our country and successive generations," said Lloyd G. Walton, Division Superintendent.

Observance of the special week will take place Nov. 11-17, with special programs and other activities highlighting not only the accomplishments, but also the problems and challenges that lie ahead in education.

Sponsored by the National Education Association, the American Legion, the National Congress of Parents and Teachers and the U. S. Office of Education, the week–with its theme this year, "Teach All the Children"–is also supported by more than 50 other organizations.

Sponsors of American Education Week have noted a number of approaches for expressing a commitment to education. Among them are:

–Ask teachers how you can support their activities at home and in your neighborhood. Learn the objectives of various types of instruction so as to be able to explain those goals to young people.

–Encourage young people toward a sense that the schools belong to them as well as to adults.

–Help young people to involve themselves as completely as possible in their learning by showing that intellectual curiosity is natural and valuable. For example, encourage them to view the programs on television that focus on current events, or American history, or the various peoples, animals, plants, customs of other parts of the world. Foster young people's interest in Public Broadcasting System programs that might supplement their classroom studies.

Continental Telephone Co. Proposes Rate Increase

Continental Telephone Company of Virginia today filed a proposed tariff with the state corporation commission.

The tariff would increase business and residential customers' local service 45 cents a month. Service connection charges and terminal equipment used by businesses, such as PABX and KEY telephone equipment, would also be increased by the proposed tariff.

The filed rate would generate enough revenue to offset a $2.8 million deficiency.

The SCC is reviewing the telephone company's filing. Continental expects a public hearing to be scheduled to examine the proposal.

POST OFFICES TO OBSERVE HOLIDAY

The Appomattox Post Office and the Pamplin Post Office will be closed Monday, November 12th, in observance of the Veterans Day holiday.

There will be no window service and no rural delivery on Monday.

State Parks Propose Change In Parking Regulations

The Department of Conservation and Economic Development, Division of Parks, has announced a proposal to amend state park vehicle parking regulations. Use of specific parking spaces in Virginia's state parks would be limited to vehicles displaying an official state license or decal for the handicapped person or disabled veteran, or similar identification issued from another state or the District of Columbia.

"With funds provided by the 1978 General Assembly, we can accomplish another step towards providing quality recreational opportunities for all to enjoy," said Parks Commissioner, Ben H. Bolen. "The Virginia Divison of State Parks is in the process of constructing facilities which will provide access for the disabled and handicapped," Bolen added.

Individuals desiring to comment on this change are invited to submit their views in writing before November 27, 1979 to Mr. Ben H. Bolen, Commissioner, Division of Parks, 1201 State Office Building, Richmond, Va. 23219.

Local M.D. Receives Fellowship In AAFP

Dr. Kenneth A. Powell

Dr. Kenneth A. Powell has been named a Fellow of the American Academy of Family Physicians.

The degree of Fellowship may be attained in either of two ways: successful completion of 600 or more hours of accredited continuing medical study, or achievement of diplomate status in the specialty of family practice as a result of passing a certifying examination administered by the American Board of Family Practice.

Fellowship entitles the conferee to use the title, "Fellow of the American Academy of Family Physicians," or "FAAFP." The degree was conferred October 9 upon more than 1100 members of the Academy in conjunction with AAFP's annual convention and scientific assembly in Atlanta, Georgia. Ceremonies were held in the Atlanta Civic Center before some 2,500 persons. Fellowship candidates wore academic robes and mortarboard caps. They were recognized according to state chapter groups and the oath of fellowship was recited en masse.

The Academy, comprising more than 44,000 members in practice and in training, was the pioneer national medical group requiring members to take continuing study, a minimum of 150 accredited hours every three years. The AAFP, headquartered in Kansas City, is the largest of medicine's specialty groups.

BURNING LEAVES? DO IT RIGHT

The time of year is here for raking leaves and disposing of them.

If you are planning to burn leaves, remember that leaf burning should not be done on the hardsurface of roads or highways. Burn leaves on private property off roadways.
